LNAP Entrance and Exit Survey Results: November 2018

Background: Student participants who entered the November 2018 Long Night Against Procrastination (LNAP) event between 7:30pm and 8:30pm were asked an entrance question by a single interviewer. 119 students were surveyed. LNAP survivors who stayed until breakfast at 6am were asked a second exit question by two separate interviewers.

The November 2018 LNAP team was curious about how many students intended to stay all night and if the all-night aspect was an integral part of the event.

All survey responses were voluntary and confidential.

In addition to the two surveys a space study was conducted at 3am to determine what types of activities were happening in the early morning hours of the event.

Results

Entrance Question: How long do you intend to stay at LNAP tonight?

[Graph showing the distribution of responses to the entrance question]

Somewhat surprisingly, the majority of early arrivers at LNAP said that they intended to stay all night.

Exit Question: If LNAP ended at 1am next year, would you still come?

[Graph showing the distribution of responses to the exit question]

Both entrance and exit surveys seemed to indicate that the all-night aspect of LNAP was important to the student perception and attitude towards the event.